

A NEW DATA SET ON MONETARY POLICY:
THE ECONOMIC FORECASTS OF INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS OF THE FOMC

Journal of Money, Credit, and Banking, August 2010

DATA APPENDIX

UPDATE, MAY 2011

David H. Romer

The data originally posted cover forecasts made in 1992–1998. This update extends the data set to include forecasts made in 1999 and 2000. There are three files in addition to those posted when the paper was published:

1. IndividualForecasts_Appendix_Updated_May2011.xls contains the data.
2. ForecastsFromFed_1999_2000.pdf contains scanned hard copies of the forecasts as they were provided by the Federal Reserve.
3. CoverLetterFromFedMarch2011.pdf contains the cover note that was provided by the Federal Reserve when it sent the 1999 and 2000 forecasts.

The folder OriginalOnlineAppendix.zip contains the data and materials that were originally posted, including a README file that explains those documents. Note that all the information in the file IndividualForecasts_Apendsix.xls in that folder is also included in the file IndividualForecasts_Appendix_Updated_May2011.xls.

Future releases of individual forecasts of individual members of the FOMC will be posted at the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia's Real-Time Data Research Center, at <http://www.philadelphiafed.org/research-and-data/real-time-center/monetary-policy-projections/>. Because the forecasts will be posted there, I am not planning to continue to update the data set.
